

For 2 or more individuals or 2 or more teams:

OBJECT OF THE GAME

Players must correctly identify the movie title from the rephrased title. Example: "Star Wars" is the correct answer to the rephrased title "Galactic Conflicts".

START OF PLAY

The first team (or player) selects a card and reads the rephrased title aloud. The other teams must guess the title of the movie from the rephrased title. The first team to correctly identify the movie title receives 10 points. An actor from the movie is also included on the card as a hint. If the teams are unable to identify the title, they may ask for the hint to be read aloud. Once the hint is read, the correct answer is worth only 5 points. If no one is able to correctly identify the title in 30 seconds (timer included), then 5 points are awarded to the team reading the question. In the event that more than one team correctly identifies the title at the same time, then points are awarded for each correct answer. The teams take turns selecting and reading the rephrased title cards.

OPTION: Deduct 5 points for an incorrect answer.

OPTION: No 30 second time limit.

WINNING THE GAME

Play continues until one of the teams or individuals reaches 100 points.

OPTION: The game can be played for a predetermined amount of time (example one hour), and the team with the most points at the end of that time is the winner.
